

Concrete work - Parramatta Road, Ashfield

Work continues along Parramatta Road, Ashfield to construct the Parramatta Road Interchange in Ashfield. On Wednesday, 6 June 2018 work to prepare the floor of the tunnel entrances will commence. This work will involve pouring concrete and undertaking a specialist concrete cutting technique known as soft-cutting (explained below).

A map showing the location of the work is provided overleaf.

What we're doing

The work is expected to take up to one month to complete will involve:

- pouring concrete within the tunnel entrance
- progressively soft-cutting the concrete as it cures

Equipment used will include concrete trucks, concrete pumps, hand tools, and saw cutters.

What is soft-cutting?

As concrete hardens and begins to set, it develops internal stresses. A specialised technique called soft-cutting helps to relieve these stresses by controlling random cracking and resulting in stronger concrete.

To be effective, soft-cutting must be completed before the concrete has cured which will result in this out-of-hours work. Every effort will be made to minimise noise impacts.

How this affects you

There will be some noise associated with this work. Every effort will be made to minimise this impact including by turning off equipment when not in use and directing noisy equipment away from residences wherever possible.

In an effort to minimise additional impacts experienced as a result of unexpected construction delays, we provide residents with weekly email updates about upcoming out-of-hours work in the area. If
